Nokia Siemens Networks Environmental Policy

Nokia Siemens Networks creates innovative products that improve the quality of life worldwide and maximize the benefits of Information and Communication Technology (ICT).

As a global company we take our responsibility for environmental protection and resource stewardship seriously.

Sustainability is the key to securing our company's future. Central to this thinking is meeting the demands of business in an ecologically and socially progressive manner. A demonstrated commitment to environmental issues will increase the competitive advantage of our business and our customers' business and lay the foundation for a successful future.

Our environmental management system ensures continuous improvement of our environmental performance: we design, develop, manufacture and market our products and services in a manner that meets or exceeds applicable regulations minimizing the adverse environmental impacts.

Our management and employees act in accordance with the Nokia Siemens Networks Environmental Policy and observe the relevant regulations. Our contractors are also required to comply with this Policy.
